

NOTES ON AUTHORS

PAULO ABRANTES holds a Doctorate in Philosophy from the University of Paris I, and was a post-doctoral visiting researcher at the Center for the Philosophy of Science of the University of Pittsburg. His areas of research are the history and philosophy of science, theory of knowledge and philosophy of mind. His publications include Imagens de Natureza, Imagens de Ciência, (Campinas, Editora Papirus). He edited the collection Epistemologia e Cognição (Brasília, Editora da Universidade de Brasília), and a special issue of Cadernos de História e Filosofia da Ciência (Centro de Lógica, UNICAMP, Campinas) on Epistemological Naturalism.

FELIPE AMARAL holds an undergraduate degree in philosophy from the University of Brasília. He is currently a doctoral student in philosophy at the CUNY Graduate Center, New York. His areas of interest are metaphysics, philosophy of science and philosophy of mind, in particular causation, counterfactuals, reduction, emergentism and functionalism.

LYNNE RUDDER BAKER is Professor of Philosophy at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. She is author of three books: Saving Belief: A Critique of Physicalism (Princeton), Explaining Attitudes: A Practical Approach to the Mind (Cambridge), and Persons and Bodies: A Constitution View (Cambridge). A book of essays on her work Explaining Beliefs: Lynne Rudder Baker and Her Critics (CSLI Lecture Notes 133, Stanford University) edited by Anthonie Meijers, was published in 2001.

HILAN BENSUSAN holds a PhD from the University of Sussex, Britain. He currently teaches in the philosophy department of the University of Brasília. He works on epistemology, conceptions of objectivity, theory of truth and mental content.

MARIA CLARA DIAS, holds a Ph.D. in Philosophy from the Freie Universität Berlin. She is a Professor of Philosophy and a member of the Centre for Ethics and Philosophy of Mind at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro. Her main publications are: Die sozialen Grundrechte: eine philosophische Untersuchung der Frage nach den Menschenrechten, (Konstanz, Hartung-Gorre, 1993) and Kant e Wittgenstein: os limites da linguagem (Rio de Janeiro: Relume Dumará, 2000).

CHARBEL EL-HANI is a professor in the Department of Biology of the Federal University of Bahia, Brazil. He is also a member of the Graduate Studies Program in Ecology and Biomonitoring, in that same university, and the Graduate Studies Program in History, Philosophy, and Science Teaching, co-sponsored by the Federal University of Bahia and the State University of Feira de Santana, Bahia. He is a Bachelor in Biology, from the Federal University of Bahia, and Doctor in Education from the University of São Paulo.

SAMI PIHLSTRÖM holds a PhD in Philosophy from the University of Helsinki in 1996, is Docent and University Lecturer in Theoretical Philosophy at the University of Helsinki, Finland.

PASCAL ENGEL is professor of philosophy of logic, language and knowledge at the University of Paris IV, Sorbonne. His publications range from the philosophy of logic to the philosophy of mind and epistemology. His publications include The Norm of Truth (Harvester, 1991), Davidson et la philosophie du langage (PUF, 1994), Introdução a la filosofia del spirito (Istituto Piaget, 1996), Philosophie et psychologie (Gallimard, 1996), La dispute (Minuit, 1997), Truth (Acumen, 2002), Ramsey, truth and success (with Jerome Dokic (Routledge 2002)), and he had edited Inquiries into Meaning and Truth, with N. Cooper (Harvester, 1991), Précis de philosophie analytique (PUF 2000) and Believing and Accepting (Kluwer, 2000).

ANDRÉ FUHRMANN, MPhil (St. Andrews), PhD (Australian National University), Habilitation (Universität Konstanz). He has taught philosophy in Canberra and Konstanz, and held visiting positions at the University of Indiana, Bloomington, and at Columbia University, New York. He moved to Brazil in 2002 to take up a chair in philosophy at the Universidade São Judas Tadeu in São Paulo. He has published books and numerous articles in logic, artificial intelligence, philosophy of mind and metaphysics.

SANFORD GOLDBERG is Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of Kentucky. He work in the areas of Philosophy of Mind and Language, Metaphysics, and Epistemology.

W. (PIM) F.G. HASELAGER has master degrees in philosophy and psychology, and received his Ph.D. from the Free University of Amsterdam in 1995. He is professor in the Department of Artificial Intelligence and Cognitive Science at the Catholic University of Nijmegen. He is particularly interested in the integration of empirical work (i.e. psychological experiments, computational modeling, and robotics) with philosophical issues regarding knowledge and intelligent behavior. He is investigating the embodied embeddedness of cognition (EEC) in relation to dynamical systems theory (DST). He has argued that both EEC and DST sharpen the debate on the role of representations in cognitive science. Specifically, he is examining the potential of non-representational ways of modeling intelligent behavior. More information at: www.nici.kun.nl/~haselag

MARIA EUNICE QUILICI GONZALEZ is Professor in the Department of Philosophy, and in the Pos-Graduate programme in Cognitive Science and Philosophy of mind at UNESP, Marília, SP, Brazil. She has been working on self-organization and cognitive science since 1984. Her Ph.D. was entitled A cognitive approach to visual perception (University of Essex) with emphasis on neural networks, self-organization and information theory. She is co-editor of several books, including the volumes of the Brazilian Society of Cognitive Science and two volumes on interdisciplinary approaches to self-organization.

MARCONI PEQUENO is professor in the department of philosophy at the Federal University of Paraíba, Brazil. He has published articles on ethics and philosophy of emotions. His book La constitution émotive du discours moral was published in 2000. His current research investigates the relationship between morality and the emotions.

PAULA MOUSINHO MARTINS holds a Doctorate in Philosophy from the Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro. She is Associate Professor at the Universidade Estadual do Norte Fluminense (Campos dos Goytacazes, Rio de Janeiro State). She works on Phenomenology and Philosophy of Mind. Her publications include “Intuição categorial e ontologia: em torno de Husserl e Heidegger”, in O Que Nos Faz Pensar, vol. 2, no.10 (Catholic University of Rio de Janeiro, 1996); “Auto-organização, Davidson e a questão da identidade” in M. E. Q. Gonzales & M. Broens (eds.), Encontro com as Ciências Cognitivas, (Marília, EdUnesp, 1998).

WILSON MENDONÇA is Professor of Philosophy at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro. He has taught in Brazil, the United States and Germany. He has published articles on contemporary moral philosophy and philosophy of mind in Kant-Studien, European Journal of Philosophy and Ratio.

EDUARDO RABOSI has held Chairs in Metaphysics and Philosophy of Language in the Philosophy Department, and the Chair in Human Rights in the Faculty of Law at the University of Buenos Aires. He is a founder member of the Sociedad Argentina de Análisis Filosófico (SADAF). He was a member of the National Commission on the “disappeared” (1983-4), and Sub-Secretary for Human Rights in the Ministry of the Interior (1984-89). He received an honorary degree from the University of Tel Aviv in 1987, and was honoured by the Buenos Aires B’nai B’rith in 1988. In the same year he was decorated by the Italian government, and received the “Diploma al Mérito” from the Fundación Konex in 1994. A special session in his honour “Ethics, Human Rights and Mind” was held at the Pacific Convention of the American Philosophical Association, in Albuquerque, New Mexico in April 2000. His many publications include Análisis Filosófico, Language y Metafísica (1977), Ética y Análisis (1985), and La Filosofía y el Filosofar (1994).

SOFIA INÊS ALBORNOZ STEIN is Professor of Philosophy at the Federal University of Goiás (UFG), Goiânia, Brazil. She holds a PhD. from the University of São Paulo (USP), for which she wrote a thesis on the relationship between the philosophies of Carnap and Quine. She has published articles on epistemology, semantics and ontology. Her publications include: “Conteúdo empírico de teorias e subdeterminação em W. V. Quine” (Principia (Florianópolis), 1998) and Identidade em contextos modais (Coleção Rumos da Epistemologia, UFSC (Florianópolis), 2002).

DANIEL VANDERVEKEN is Professor at the University of Quebec at Trois-Rivières where he is the director of the research Group on Communication and Discourse. His research interests are illocutionary and intentional logics, the logic of action, formal semantics and pragmatics of discourse and semiotics. He is the co-author with John Searle of Foundations of illocutionary Logic (Cambridge University Press, 1985). His other main publications are Les actes de discours (Pierre Mardaga, 1988), Meaning and Speech Acts, Volume 1 Principles of Language Use and Volume 2 Formal Semantics of Success and Satisfaction (Cambridge University Press). He recently published as a co-editor (with Susumu Kubo) Essays in Speech Act Theory (John Benjamins Publishing Company).

